
MOMENT 4

Watch the read-aloud A Kids Book About Racism by Jelani Memory with your child and talk about if they have ever seen racism - at school, in the neighborhood, on a show? Listen and help your child process and talk about it.

If your child is 5 and younger, watch the following read-aloud from Sesame Street: We're Different, We're the Same

If your little one is too young to sit for the read-aloud, watch the videos on your own. Use the stories to help as you narrate for your child while cooking dinner, taking a walk, or bath time. You can talk about what is different, what is the same - what you see nearby, people you know, etc. Even if your child is a baby, narrating this conversation is helpful in making this a part of your life.
